New York, Nov. 25.—When Dr. Henry R. Rogers, a well-known spirit medium, opened his weedly seance lest night at No. 100 West Seventy-eight street, Detective Sergennts Foye and Brown were present as spectators.

On November, 25 the detectives, with Neal Girain 67 No. 232 East Eleventh street, as complainant, obtained warrants against Richard Roe and Jane Doe, on a charge of obtaining toloney under false pretenses, Girard having paid a dollar to speak to a materialization of his dead sister, Mrs. Emima Lockwood, at a previous scance. Girard was also present last night with the police.

A spirit had appeared and had advanced a few feet from the cabinet when the defectives who were among the devout helievers in the first row of seats made the detectives who were among the devout believers in the first row of scats made a road forward and seized the spook. Hrown seized the nectium while Girard turned up the gas to get a better look at his departed size. Buring the excitement the believers yelled "Robbers." "Thieres." "Police" at the top of their voices. Before the lights were immed up fully Dr. Rogers materialized a batchet from somewhere beneath the curtains of the cabinet. The hatchet was to be used as the tomahawk of an Indian chief who desired to communicate the truth to the pale faces in the room. The chief, though a good warrior, was unable to rescue the doctor, but sent the lattchet to aid him. While the ghost was struggling, kicking and screaming in its endeavor to scure its liberty and return to the spirit hand the doctor was trying to cut his way out of the room with the formahawk, and incidentally brain Detective Brown, who was holding on to his righting arm.

The ghost was round to be Mrs. Mathida Chadwick, a friend of Dr. Rogers. She was dressed in a loose robe of white material full of liminasis paint, which did not show when the gas was turned up.

Detective Brown managed to handle Dr. Rogers, and after giving Mrs. Chadwick a chance to change her cothing the trio was taken to the central office.

Dr. Roger's wife was present at the time, but did not interfere, and as there was no warrant for her she was not attrested.

The pelice have been trying to make a case against Ir. Rogers for some time. He is probabily the best known spook materializer in the country, having operated in St. Lootis, Philaociphia, Chicago and Cincinnati very extensively. It was in Philaociphia that he met Yost, the well-known manafacturer of typewriters.

Rogers completely alemated the effections of Yost from his family. Yost followed bits to New York. Herey believers to the first row of seats made Rogers completely alemated the effections of Yost from his family. Yost followed him to New York. Here he furnished a house on Fifty second street, near Eighth avenue, in patiatal style, and practically turned it over to Rogers. It is claimed that Yost also gave him much money.

About three menths ago Yost died.

It is claimed there were suspicious circumstances surrounding his sudden taking off.

STRANGE MISHAPS.

Chicago Woman's Death Surrounded

Chicago Woman's Death Surrounded By Curious Misadventures.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—A scries of strange mishaps and fatalities surrounds the death of Mrs. T. Tobiason, No. 710 North western avenue. Mrs. Tobiason died under peculiar circumstances on inst Thursday. Conflicting stodies are told as to how she met her death.

One story is she had been to a grocery, and on her return slipped on the board walk in the rear of the office, breaking her neck. Another statement is she sustained a paralytic shock in the house, falling from a chair and dying of repeated hemorrhages.

Yesterday afternoon the funeral was stopped by the coroner for two hours. Finally permission was given to place the body in a vault at Mount Olive Cemetery, pending the inquest today.

On the way back from Mount Olive the carriage containing Mrs. Tobiason's son was run into at Washtenaw avenue by a Division street electric car. The driver of the carriage, Charles Peterson, sustained a fractured skull and will die.

Thomas Tobiason marrowly escaped with his life. The carriage was completely wrecked, and one of the horses so badly lart it had to be shot.

The coroner this afternoon will empaned a jury and go to the cemetery and hold the inquest. The coroner this afternoon will empanel a jury and go to the cemetery and hold the inquest.

The action was in pursuance of a threat made by President Johnson to Mayor Pingree to the effect that if the city government persisted in refusing to meet the company part way in the matter of extending the company's franchises both the universal transfer system and the six-for-a-quarter tickets would be abolished.

This declaration has now been made wood.

ished.

This declaration has now been made good in both respects. Mr. Johnson, however, was willing to meet the city in the matter of further reduction of fares (probably to seven for a quarter) provided the city extended the company's franchises, most of which will lapse within fourteen years. Mayor Prigree insists upon nothing short of eight tickets for a quarter, day and night.

HAZING OF THE GUNNERS

Investigation of Navy Yard Scandal by Board of Inquiry.

TESTIMONY OF THE OFFICERS

t Was Shown at the Examination to day That the Colored Seamen Have Been Subjected to All Kinds of In dignities-Court-Martial Will Follow Discovery of Offenders' Names.

The board of inquiry appointed to investigate the charges of hazing made against the while members of the class of seamen gunners at the Navy Yard met in the new court-martial room shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. After remaining in secret session for an hour and a half the board announced that the sessions would be open to the public.

The board consisted of Commander W. Maynard, president; Lieutenant Commander Richard Wainwright, and Lieutenant W. W. Kimball. Ensign Warren J. Terhune officined as recorder, and put the questions to the witnesses.

The subject marter of the board's inquiry has been fully and exclusively printed in The Tines. There are thirty-three members of the class of seamen gunners, men advanced for special aptitude they have shown in the duffea assigned them, Four of the men are colored.

The men are all compelled to eat at the same table and bunk in the same quarters. The whites profested and agreed, it is said, to ostracise their colored chasmen.

After committing numerous outrages upon the colored men, such as emptying cuspiders upon the mattresses of their bunks, scaking the mattresses and covering them with blankets, they finally 'keel-bauled' then regrees, it is said, by dropping them in the water when it was at anything but a comfortable temperature. Everything in fact, it is said, was done to drive the colored men from the class.

COLOR LINE INVOLVED. COLOR LINE INVOLVED.

There is, therefore, much resting upon the result of the beard's investigation that was begun today. It is practically to determine whether the color line shall be drawn in the United States navy.

The board is merely an indicting body. If it is found that offenses have been committed and the names of the perpetrators of the offenses can be learned, they will be held to answer before a court-martial.

Upon the determination to make the proceedings public Commander Maynard took his seat at the bead of the table. Leatenant Commander Wainwright sat on his right and Lieut. Kimball on his left. Ensign Terhune was seated at the other end of the table. Commonder John A. Howell, commandant of the Navy Yard, was the first witness called before the board. He knew nothing of the matter at issue of his personal cognizance. Officingly the winess had received a report from one of the lieutenants some time in October. The report was verbal, and to the effect that a colored classician had compkined to him that he was strock over the eye by a fellow gunner. The report was afterward embodied in writing, making complaint of hazing on the night of November 11. Lieut. Blockinger made the report to Commodore Howell.

Ensign Williams had submitted one or two memoranda, the winess and received the submitted one or two memoranda.

"Have you ever heard any hooting or leering of any members of the class by other members?" asked the recorder.
"I have not," was the answer. RUMORS WERE TRUE. The reports of the officers were then read. The investigations of the officers, as their

The investigations of the officers, as their reports indicated, found that the rumors related above were true, and that the half had have were true, and that the half had not been followed men had been jeered at builded had been thrown at them, their lockers and beds had been despoiled, and they had been subjects of bodhy injury. The names of the perpetrators of the deeds were not known.

Ensign George W. Williams succeeded Commodore Howell in the witness chair. "I know nothing personally of the alleged hazing," said he, "except seeing the wound on the face of J. A. Jackson, colored, said to have been struck by a fellow-classman."

"Can you name the classmen who have dissipated all knowledge of the occurrences in question."

"has the officer of the day for observing conduct of seamen during day and night."
"Between the hours of 4.50 p. m. and 8 a. m.," said the witness, "he has the opportunity he wants to make. In the daytime the men are in the shop."

In answer to the query if any extra inspection and watch had been made since the reported outrages, witness stid an extra guard of four was on watch each night. Inspections are now sometimes made after 12 o'clock midnight. No hazing has oc-curred during the hours the new watch stood, from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., so the wit-ness stated.

A report had reached witness that insulting language had been used toward Jackon on November 16.

Witness said that he obeyed an order of Witness said that he obeyed an order of the commandant in seeking to learn from inquiry among the seamen the sentiment among the classmen. Several seamen stated "that it wasn't right that a nigger should be placed over white people."

At the conclusion of Ensign Williams' testimony the board adjourned for lun-cheon.

But Ten Thousand Spectators Felt Otherwise and Had a Riot.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 23.—A special from the City of Mexico says that a riot occurred St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 25.—A special from the City of Mexico says that a riot occurred at the Bacaeli ring yesterday afternoon in consequence of the poor fighting qualities of the bulls.

The 10,000 speciators began to show their displeasure from the moment the first bull made its appearance in the arem.

As the second and third animals proved equally bad an unknown individual burled a plank at one of the fighters in the ring.

This act served as a signal for the excited multitude to behave in a like manner, with the result that the ring was strewn with the result that the ring was only on account of the presence of the large body of sodiers, who threatened to fire on the mob, that the total destruction of the structure was averted.

The management was fined $500 and ordered to return the admittance price, which was $2 per capita. Several people were more or less injured.

This demonstration is likely to result in the suppression of buil fighting for some time to come.

DULL AND IRREGULAR. Large Gold Shipments Expected to Be Made This Week.

Made This Week.

New York, Nov. 25.—The feature of the trading at the Stock Exchange this morning was the heaviness of the industrial group. Sugar dropped 1-3-8 to 98 on the continued weakness of refined and feats of heatile legislation by Congress.

The uninvorable trade condition affected leather pr-ferred and the stock dropped 1-18 to 651-8. Tobacco sold down 21-4 to 81-2, on reports that the oppesation was making serious inroads in the company's territory.

Chicago Gas dropped to 61-38, owing to the delay in promulgating the gian of reorganization.

As there will be no fast steamers for Europe until Wednesday, very little was said about gold exports this morning al-
